Out of the abundance of the heart the mouth speaketh. (Matthew 12:34)

Our thoughts are often spoken of as coming from our hearts, the center of our affections. Our minds are filled with whatever we expose them to each day. When we fill them with gossip or trivia, this is what comes out in our words. We are to constantly battle to overcome undesirable character traits, and enlarge on the finer, more uplifting qualities.

Luke 6:45

Write the numbers 0 - 24 on the outside of the grid with 0 being at the bottom left corner going up.
Write the numbers 0 - 24 on the outside of the grid with 0 being at the bottom left corner going across.
The numbers should line up with the lines, not the blanks.

Graph the following coordinates to make a picture. After each point found, connect it with the previous dot with a line.

(12,18) (13,20) (14,21) (16,22) (18,22) (20,21) (22,17) (22,13) (21,10) (19,7)
(17,5) (12,1) (7,5) (12,1) (7,5) (5,7) (3,10) (2,13) (2,17) (4,21)
(6,22) (8,22) (10,21) (11,20) (12,18)

If the statement is kind, color the box green.

If the statement is not kind, color the box brown.

Saying cruel things because you are upset	Let's work this out together.	Making fun of someone	God has been good to me.
Thank you for helping me."	Constantly speaking negatively	I will tell the truth."	Talking negatively about someone behind their back
Saying harmful or false things about someone	Putting someone down because you envy them	You did a great job!	I'm sorry. Please forgive me.
How can I help you?	I care about you.	Saying something you know is not true	I forgive you
Using words meant to frighten or intimidate	You're stupid.	I'm here if you need help.	You'll never be able to do that.
