This is the            of the I am making between me and you and every

           . . . I have set my            in the clouds . . . Whenever . . . the rainbow appears in the clouds, I will my covenant . . .           

           will the waters become a           
 to            all life.
